

QPP Submission Made Simple: CMS Announces Streamlined Systems

CMS has streamlined online reporting enabling users to manage their data from one location - the QPP website.

What is Changing?

CMS is transitioning away from the Enterprise Identity Data Management (EIDM) system previously used for creating QPP website user accounts. Going forward, users will manage their reporting access; including user IDs and passwords, directly through the QPP website.

Note: This transition does not impact user access to legacy program reports (e.g., Quality and Resource Use Reports (QRURs) or Physician Quality Reporting System (PQRS) feedback reports) available on the CMS Enterprise Portal.

How Will the Change Impact Current Users?

Users that already have an EIDM account don't need to take any additional action. You will log-in to the QPP website with the same EIDM credentials you've always used.

Moving forward, you will manage all QPP website access by clicking the "recover ID or reset password" link on the log-in page.

How Will New Users Create an Account?

New users will create their account from the QPP log-in page by clicking on the "Register" link. This will direct new users to CMS' new secure identity management portal - the HCQIS Access Roles and Profile (HARP) system.

Physician Compare Preview: Extended to January 7, 2019

The Physician Compare preview period has been extended to Monday, January 7, 2019 at 8pm ET.

This preview period gives ECs and groups an opportunity to review their 2017 QPP performance information before it's publicly reported on Physician Compare.

You can access the preview through the QPP website. These resources are available for help:

- Physician Compare Preview Period User Guide
- Physician Compare National Provider Call

If you have any questions about Physician Compare, public reporting, or the 30-day preview period, please contact physiciancompare@westat.com.
